Woman and Society

(BY MISS LOUISE JONES.)

Miss Kate Elliott, who has been visiting Miss Hughes in Elizabeth City for a few weeks will return today by way of Durham where she will be joined by Miss Mattie Mory Adams, who will visit her for a short while.

Mrs. W. T. Sledge has gone to Catawba to spend the week-end with Mrs. H. F. Elliott.

Mrs. M. L. Flowe has gone to Yorkville, S. C., to spend a week or ten days.

STONE-JOY

Hickory Girl Weds Thomasville Man

Mr. A. K. Joy, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, received a telegram Wednesday afternoon informing him that his daughter, Miss Jesse L. Joy, and Mr. B. M. Stone were married in Petersburg, Va., that day. The young people have set up house-keeping in Petersburg, which is near City Point, where Mr. Stone is employed.

The marriage was not exactly a surprise to the father, as he was aware that the couple had matrimonial intentions, although he did not know they intended to get married Wednesday. The courtship that culminated in the marriage was begun in Hickory, where the bride met Mr. Stone some time ago. His family resides in Thomasville, and he is a worthy young man.

Miss Joy is the accomplished daughter of the secretary of the Hickory Chamber of Commerce, has been librarian since the marriage of Miss Field, and is well educated. Her many friends in Hickory will extend best wishes and the hope for a long and prosperous union.

Miss Margaret Rose Smith of Middletown, N. Y., who has been the guest of Mrs. J. A. Martin for the past several weeks, left this afternoon for Columbia, S. C., where she will spend two weeks en route to Montgomery, Ala., to visit Mrs. Rowell Holt.

Miss May Rhodes returned to Lincolnnton yesterday after visiting Miss Esther B. Schultz at Lenox College.

Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Whitener spent yesterday with Mrs. Whitener's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wilfong, Mrs. Whitener is visiting in Newton today.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Rhyne, and Dr. Ralph Little of Newton motored to the city yesterday and spent the evening.

With Mrs. Moretz.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. J. A. Moretz most delightfully entertained with four tables of progressive rummy in honor of her niece, Miss Alma Moretz. Misses Nannette Rudisill, Elizabeth McComb and Ellen White drew for the prize, Miss White receiving a lovely crepe de chine handkerchief. A box of monogram stationery was given the guest of honor.

At the close of the game the hostess assisted by her sister, Miss Florence Leonard, served a delicious three-course luncheon. Mrs. Moretz's guests included Misses Elizabeth McComb, Adelaide Johnston, Grace Patrick, Ellen White, Margaret McComb, Emma Bonner, Frances Lentz, Nannette Rudisill, Lenore Sourbeer, Gertrude Finer, Florence Leonard, Evangeline Ely, Summie Way of Jacksonville, Fla., Lillian Field, Mary Knox Henderson, and Adele Kirkpatrick.

RELIGIOUS BOOKS GERMAN SOLDIERS

(By Associated Press.)
Aix-La-Chapelle, Germany, Nov. 27. Soldiers in the German armies are being supplied by a religious association here with a booklet entitled "Father, I Call Thee." It contains prayers suitable for various military emergencies and explains to the soldier in simple language his religious duty while on service or in danger.

In the preface of the book the reader is told briefly and eloquently that he is fighting "with God for Emperor and Fatherland," and that the German soldier is the representative of a sacred and righteous cause. "For a long time," says the preface, "our enemies have been looking on us with envy, and it is their act which has brought this war upon us. We Germans can count on God's help, and he will crown the righteous cause with final victory. Therefore go forward in full confidence that heaven will shield you from the enemy."

"God help the brave. You have pledged yourself to the emperor by your military oath. Show that you have sworn it with an upright heart. Be obedient to your superiors in the minutest detail, for they are the emperor's representatives. Do not be led astray into disobedient ways. Never betray under any circumstances, a military secret, such as the movement of troops, and even should you go into imprisonment in an enemy's country, never divulge anything. For emperor and fatherland."

The Unaesthetic Age.
Robbie's first experience of a concert hall was a recent mammoth entertainment in aid of a patriotic fund, says the Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph. The most celebrated soprano of the day was engaged in singing to the accompaniment of a famous orchestra when Robbie and family arrived.

The small boy at once became interested in the gesticulation of the conductor. "Mother, why is that man shaking the stick at the lady?" he asked. "Hush dear; he is not shaking the stick at her." But Robbie was not convinced. "Then what is she screaming for?" he asked.

ZION MULE CORPS WINS DISTINCTION

(By Associated Press.)
London, Nov. 27.—The Zion mule corps, composed of Jewish refugees from Jerusalem, gets official notice in the latest awards from the Dardanelles. The honor of "special mention" goes to Private Nissel Rosenberg, a member of the corps who, Sir Ian Hamilton pays the following tribute to the organization in a letter:

"It may interest you to know that I have here, fighting under my orders, a purely Jewish unit. As far as I know this is the first time in the Christian era that such a thing has happened. The men who compose it were cruelly driven out of Jerusalem by the Turks, and arrived in Egypt with their families absolutely destitute and starving."

A complete transport corps was raised from them for voluntary service against the Turks, whom they naturally detest. These troops were officially described as the 'Zion Mule Corps' and both officers and rank and file have shown great courage in taking water and supplies up to the fighting lines under heavy fire."

QUAKERS IN WAR

Possibility of Conscription Presents Serious Problem.
(By Associated Press.)

London, Nov. 27.—For the English Quakers the possibility of conscription in Great Britain offers a very serious problem. It has ever been suggested that there is danger of a split in the ranks of the church. A committee from the central organizations is now engaged in sounding every male communicant of military age as to his intentions toward the society in the event of conscription.

A circular which has been sent to these possible subjects of conscription by the Committee says:

"Whatever the future may have in store for us we are at least faced with the possibility of military or industrial compulsion. Should this actually come about, we assume that friends will stand fast to their belief in the sanctity of human personality, and to the principles of Jesus Christ as they understand them, be the consequences what they may. We must uphold liberty of conscience, a right won by much suffering in the past, and not lightly to be relinquished."

"Should friends in any proposed legislation receive favored treatment, which is not extended to other conscientious subjects (as has been the case in the military acts) we feel we should be in a difficult position. We should wish to support those outside our membership as far as possible, and some friends feel it might be right for them to resign their membership to this end."

"This is a practical method which merits earnest consideration; but it should not be forgotten that it might prevent us serving the society in other directions, and its desirability must be carefully weighed against the force of the argument that if Quakers are given, and accept, examination, there is every reason why the convictions of other conscientious objections should be similarly recognized."

Each recipient of the circular is asked for a list of questions as to his intentions "in order that those who wish to stand out in the event of conscription may be able to keep in close touch with the committee for rapid communication of advice and assistance."

The Wrong House

Hard luck had struck Johnson a fearful blow. In desperation he took on a job to sell books from door to door, according to the Philadelphia Record.

All down one street he went without making a single sale. Then, turning the corner, he determined to try a new method. The first house he came to was large and shabby and a frowzy female answered his knock.

"Have you a Charles Dickens in your home?" he asked politely.

"No," snapped the female.

"Or a Robert Louis Stevenson?"

"No."

"Or Walter Scott?" asked Johnson, hope dancing momentarily in his eyes.

"No; we ain't," said the woman sharply. "And, what's more, this ain't a boarding house. If you're looking for them fellows you might try next door; they take lodgers!"

MAN FROM HOME HERE MONDAY NIGHT

Reserved tickets for "The Man from Home" the second number on the lyricum course, to be presented at the Hub Monday night went on today at 9 o'clock at Lutz's Drug Store. "The American Girls" were so good that the Hickory public has taken new interest in the coming numbers and it is expected that every seat will be filled Monday night.

The play was first produced at the Studebaker theatre, Chicago, in the fall of 1907, where it ran for one year, playing nightly to capacity houses. It then opened at the Astor theatre, New York, where the Chicago success was repeated. Since that time the piece has enjoyed unprecedented runs in all or the principal cities. "The Man from Home" is a modern comedy with a strong plot and thrilling situations, at centers around the adventures of an eccentric young lawyer of Kokomo, Indiana, in his efforts to save his ward, a romantic, title-hunting girl, from a conspiring family of the "fine flower" of Europe. While the action of the play takes place in southern Italy, it is strictly American, and carries a wholesome moral.

Press comments on Mr. Ginn's presentation are universally favorable, but the following letter from Booth Tarkington should induce all the readers to witness this presentation:

"I am greatly your debtor for your impersonation of 'The man from Home.' One feels the whole play growing into tangible existence, as you enact it; the characters live and walk before the auditor, and with a really perfect preception of the 'dramatic values.' Your character painting is beyond praise: each figure stands out as if each had been created by a separate actor (so to speak) and your presentation of 'Pike' was one of the most interesting pieces of work I ever saw."

"Now, I have seen the play presented in rehearsal and after probably over a hundred times and I have myself read it aloud, since its inception over and over. If you could hold me spell-bound—as you did—what could not you do to an audience?"

"Sincerely,
"BOOTH TARKINGTON."

SWISS EMBROIDERY

(By Associated Press.)
Exports Increasing By Leaps and Bounds—Depression

Zurich, Switzerland, Nov. 27.—While Austrian trade and industry generally are suffering great depression from the war, the little mountainous crownland of Vorarlberg, on the borders of Switzerland is in a most prosperous condition.

In Vorarlberg are scores of small embroidery factories now crowded with orders from Swiss agents, who get the work done thirty per cent cheaper there than in their own country, because the Austrian crown, usually roughly equivalent to a franc in value, is now only seventy centimes in Swiss money. And meanwhile thousands of Swiss workers are out of employment.

Valenciennes, the center of the French embroidery industry, is occupied by the Germans, and Plauen in Saxony, the chief center of Germany's embroidery trade can no longer export any wares. Consequently Switzerland's embroidery exports are rising by leaps and bounds, in spite of the general depression everywhere resulting from the war. Last year the total exports of embroideries amounted to some twenty-four million dollars, this year they will probably reach forty millions. The bulk of the goods are going to the United States and to Great Britain. The Swiss trader is profiting both ways; in cheaper labor and comparative freedom from competition.

Henry Ford never spends his money to little purpose.
